20 0 fact	As for me, I would call this story "Murals for Fiona". I have chosen this title because the story tells us about a woman named Fiona who came to the antique shop to buy murals. Not only she loved the wonderful artwork, she also connected with it on a spiritual level. не сомневайтесь, γεγονός

Dear children of the future!

Here I am, your ancestor, writing you about the 2020s. Of course, you might have found out in your history text books that these years were a true challenge for us but, still, we survived. I would love to tell you about three things that helped us in these hard times.

The first thing is our smartphones. We use them for everything nowadays: calls, access to the Internet, texting our friends and listening to music. Moreover, they run out of battery quite fast. Hope, you have liked that already.

The next significant thing is a laptop. We use it for our studies. They help us staying in touch with our teachers during the pandemic. We attend online classes via our laptops. We also use these devices to watch movies at home. I wonder if you still have Netflix in the future for these purposes.

Last but not least, we adore our wireless headphones. Obviously, we use them to listen to music. Also, we can dance or do sports in them because they have no annoying wires that don't allow us to move.

In conclusion, you may find these technologies obsolete but these are the most significant things right now.
