Hellow, our dear future generation! I hope you are fine and wealthy, live in harmony and friendship.

I would like to tell you about some main happenings at present. Firstly, you should definitely know about the COVID-19 and the huge pandemic, that has covered the whole world and made us stay at home for long periods of time. Fortunately, we've made a special 'medicine thing' not to be so afraid of this awful disease, but it is still in progress, so we are still fighting with it.

Secondly, we have big environmental problems: air and water pollution, unrecycled plastic that wastes both water and earth.
These factors really influence our lives, so we are doing our best to solve these problems to save our planet, our motherland, for our future generations.

Thirdly, our society is really close to the World War III. In my opinion, it is the most important thing, because we've learned about a lot from our grandparents about previous times scary of World War II and we don't want all these to happen again. We want to live and prosper, to make something good to our planet and society, so all of us are trying to ~~manage~~ ^{do everything we can to} manage with ^{terrible} such a situation.
