Hello future generation! I'm your ancestor, greeting you! Hopefully you will receive the message. I hope that you don't have to deal with so many problems as we have to.

I'm so excited to tell you about our lives and objects that are most significant for us. First of all, computers. These electronic devices help us every day: clerks use them to organise tables, doctors use them to conduct medical operations more precisely. More and more people use them for entertainment. Life would be much harder without computers.

There is another object I want to tell you about. Smartphones. A lot of people have them nowadays. Smartphones are used for a variety of purposes. You can stay connected with the rest of the world if you have a smartphone. You can communicate with your family and friends if you have a smartphone. And you can entertain yourself with a smartphone too!

And the last but not the least are satellites. Orbiting the Earth, those objects make it possible to collect useful data about space. Also we have GPS, Internet and Mobile connection thanks to them.

I can't even imagine how these things will change in future! I wish I could see the way you live in your time.

Close up!
