Since people are attracted to beautifully arranged food isles they will spend more time in a store. Therefore, it is really amazing how tricks like these can define our choices.

Hello to all the people reading this message. I truly hope that your lives from the future are better than ours now. In 2022 we consider the world to be technologically advanced and many material things play crucial roles in our lives.

The first thing that billions of people use daily is mobile phone. The most important function of it is communicating, (whether that is done) using social media, exploring it or sharing something online or ~~through~~^{using} various messengers to stay in touch with loved ones.

The second thing I would like to pay attention to is a car. People depend on it to get from one place to another even if there is a traffic jam and it takes hours. Most cars work on petroleum. However there are about three companies that produce e-cars that are not only less harmful to the nature but also don't need a driver to ~~control~~^{guide} them.

The third thing that is worth mentioning is a book. It is thought that we tend to use the paper printed books less often but I would say we still cherish that type of reading as well as e-books. I believe that many changes are to come in the future and I hope that all the things that will change will change for better.
