Dear future generations!

I am writing to you from the year 2022 AD. I hope you live in the better world than we do now.

Today we have achieved a lot already. We have sent a man into space and we are thinking about colonizing other planets. The money is mainly controlled by oil, which is harvested from the depths of the soil. Unfortunately, that damages our environment, so we might need to look for a new place to live.

We have a wonderful thing called THE INTERNET. It is a virtual net that covers all of the Earth's surface. We communicate through the strands of this net (with the help of the electricity).

We also have powerful weapons. Perhaps not as destructive as you do, but they are enough to keep people fearful. We have nuclear weapons and chemical warfare. There have already been two World Wars, and we are now now at the brink of the third. If it happens, you will not read this message. But if you somehow will, I beg you to keep peace and do everything, but not kill each other for money or territory.

My time is now running out. I wish you the best of luck.

Sincerely yours,
a distant ancestor
