Mello, people of the future!

It is great that I have an opportunity to be writing to you! In my message I want to tell you about the objects that are of high value for my personally in the 21st century. To be honest, there are a lot of things I can talk about, but these three are most significant ones.

First of all, there is a thing in the 21st century called a tablet. I don't think you've got this thing in your world, but we simple can't live without them. A tablet is a small computer, which you can put into your pocket or bag. Just a touch of your finger - and you can get the whole information that you need!

Moreover, we have got microwave ovens in our homes. This is a fantastic object that is useful in every household. You just put some cold meal there and in a minute it is ready. Amazing, isn't it!

There is another object which I personally find significant. It's a paper book. You know, nowadays people prefer read e-books. To my mind, an e-book will never be used instead of paper book. You should keep paper books and take care of public libraries.

That is the end of my message! I will be glad if you tell your friends about the objects of the past!
