5	As for me, I like getting advice from different people. Getting advice from many different people is very useful since you can get a lot of different information and then choose which one you would like to listen to. Also, It's better than giving advice because to give advice you really need to know a lot about the person's situation.

20	Donald Trump lost the race and did not concede to Joe Biden. As a result, he became a model of how to try to stop destroy democracy. Brazil faced the same problem. Jair Bolsonaro believed that the election was rigged against him, but he still transitioned the power and (somewhat) conceded to the new president.
