16	1) "And what do you have up your sleeve today, young lady?" Faye smiled at her, relieved that she looked so well. 2) No one had reported losing him, and as of that morning he officially belonged to Nancy. 3) But little by little her face was emerging, and so was her personality. It was as though by remolding her cheek-bones and her forehead and her nose, he was also revealing more of the soul that had been hidden by youth. She had matured a great deal in the year since the accident.
17	1) she brought a friend and made arrangements for a voice coach. 2) "A glimpse into Nancy's eyes told Faye just how lonely she'd been." 3) "They had a good session that day, and for the first time in eight months, they didn't talk about Michael." 4). "And in the spring she and Fred went for long walks in the park, through the rose gardens and along the remoter paths near the beach. She sometimes went on drives with Peter to out-of-the-way beaches where her bandages didn't matter".
18	1) turned her head to look at the person (Faye) standing near the door. 2) to do something. 3) comforting someone and doing everything to show that you love him. 4) say something about Michael. 5) said the word in a loud and clear way.
19	1) calm down 2) came 3) shine 4) programme 5) good
20	"A tough path to a happy life" is, in my opinion, the best title for the story. This title suits the story well because in the story we can see a girl, she is rebelitating after the accident. "She had matured a great deal in the year since the accident" – this sentence helped me with my choice. 55 words

I would like to nominate my mentor – Mrs Smith – in the contest "the Best Mentor of the Year". She really worth participating because she has skills, achievements and personality traits, which describe her like the best mentor.

At first I would like to tell a story of my life, that shows Mrs Smith's best personality traits. One girl in my class has a younger brother with autism. One day a terrible accident has happened: mother and father of that girl and boy died in the car accident. The girl was told that she can't be with her brother anymore because he will live in a hospital. My classmate loved brother very much. Our mentor, Mrs Smith, knew about the situation. Two days later my classmate called Mrs Smith "mother". I was shocked. It turned out that Mrs Smith took my classmate and her brother home and made them their children! Moreover, she started teaching a boy with autism. Now she even wants to set up a school for kids with autism. At the same time she does not forget about us, her students. We have lessons and meetings almost every day and get new knowledge that she give us.

Mrs Smith is the kindest and cleverest mentor. She really worth to be "the best Mentor of the year.
