Вариант № 3

16	1. F (However, that is a profound change in societies that have long regarded images, video and audio as close to ironclad proof that something is real) 2. F (The trouble is that the takes are rapidly getting harder to spot) 3. T (Even the best detection system would have no crack to find and no ledge to grasp) 4. T (Perhaps anyone will be able to produce a pixel-perfect video of a president or prime minister announcing a nuclear first strike, momentarily setting the world on edge) 5. F (Reputation and provenance will become more important than ever)
17	1. From the printing press to the internet 2. Because AI is improving all the time, as computing power and training data become more abundant) 3. People will learn that images, audio or video of something do not prove that it happened, any more than a drawing of it does 4. Via email - addresses and social-media platforms 5. New technologies have often made it easier to spread untruths
18	1. A very trustworthy thing, something that is definitely truth. 2. Have To have some imperfections 3. To have no proof that something is wrong 4. To arrange huge panic 5. To find things that are not visible and evident
19	1. Imperfect 2. Strong 3. Huge 4. Trusting 5. Develop
20	AI-generated takes are getting more and more common. Now They have some imperfections, but soon it will be very hard to understand that they are takes. So perhaps They are raising the value of trust. Now companies should identify themselves because reputation and provenance are more important than ever. People will trust the content less.
