Вариант № 2

16 4	1) "But what could the thoughts of these creatures matter to someone who stood there bleeding to death, pierced to the heart." 2) "Quite good", said Miss Meadows, but still in such a strange, stony tone that the younger girls began to feel positively frightened. 3) "the younger girls began to feel positively frightened", the older girls were crimson, some of the younger ones began to cry. 4) "Pay no attention to the letter, must have been mad, bought her stand today - Basil!"
17 4	1) He wrote that he was disgusted by the idea of getting married to her. "Quite good", said Miss Meadows, but still in such a strange, stony tone that the younger girls began to feel positively frightened. 2) She made the girls perform gloomy music when she was heartbroken and joyful music when she was happy. 3) She was already too old to get married. 4) "On the wings of hope, of love, of joy!" "And she beamed at the girls."
18 5	1) walk through the chilly corridors 2) heartbroken, emotionally wounded "...the younger girls began to feel positively frightened." "The elder girls were crimson, some of the younger ones began to cry." 3) in a cold, emotionless voice 4) to be scared 5) looked at her girls with happiness joy
19 4	1) sadness 2) to breathing in 3) hurried back 4) hall 5) upset
20 4	A heartbreak and a relief The fiance of the main character claimed that he was against getting married to Miss Meadows despite his love for her. This hurt her and meant that she would never find a husband, as she was too old. Later, however, the woman was overjoyed to find out that her fiance didn't actually mean it and was calling off their wedding.

ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

Neural networks have been developing rapidly in the last few¹⁰ years. They can now generate comprehensible text or images if given a prompt. Many people have voiced concerns about the effect it may have on our society.

There exists a concern that neural networks are leading to the downfall of critical thinking and education. Indeed, many students are already using Chat GPT when writing essays. It is also cheaper for companies to use AI instead of hiring people to write or draw for them. Why are human efforts even needed if neural networks can do things better with the entirety of the internet at their disposal? Well, Chat GPT and other programmes alike can only copy what they have seen, they lack the true ability to create. In the long run, human intelligence, education and creativity will still be as needed as they have always been. At the end of the day, neural networks are just tools for us to use.

In conclusion, education and critical thinking are not at a decline. It is best to not listen to those who claim otherwise or even refuse to study because they believe there is no point in that nowadays. After all, they are a lot like the people who were sure that photography would replace artists, yet it didn't happen, did it?
