There're some interesting facts and predictions about intelligent life forms on other planets. Scientists all over the world try to find new information and even make connections with ~~the~~ ^{unknown} UFO-owners. But what extent should be done?

In my opinion, it is so difficult to understand what manipulations should be done with aliens to find a connection. But obviously, I firmly believe convinced that it is ~~useful~~ ^{useful} unless to try to send them simple messages. We know that even if there's a life on other planets, they definitely have another and challenging for us language. I suppose, scientists should invent new language which will be universal and understanding for everyone. Also, I'm convinced that messages should be sent in another way. It is unsuccessful to try to send messages ~~to~~ via social networks, the Internet and even the DarkNet. It can be more beneficial to develop space-robot systems and try to post messages in different ways.

In conclusion, I should point out that living in today's world filled with digital information is a great step to observe new life forms. I firmly believe that scientists will use all opportunities without ~~and~~ any stop or restrictions because every decision can make a breakthrough.
