Вариант № 2

16	1) "... bleeding to death, pierced to the heart..." 2) "With the gleam of the contraltos added..." 3) - "... girls began to feel positively frightened." - "... girls were crimson..." 4) "Pay no attention to letter; must have been mad..."
17	1) It was a statement that their marriage would be a mistake and the words "disgust" and "regret" that capped it all. 2) It was entirely dependent on her mood. When she felt dejected, she chose sad music ("A Lament"), but when uplifted, she played something cheerful. 3) It was a five-year age disparity between her and Basil that made everyone surprised. 4) - "On the wings of hope, of love, of joy..." - "And she beamed at her girls."
18	1) walked in the freezing hallways 2) deeply hurt inside 3) a cold manner of voice 4) to be instilled with a sense of discipline through menacing strictness 5) smiled at her students
19	1) sadness 2) wandering 3) rushed back 4) passage 5) despondent
20	A good title for the story, in my opinion, would be "Music to Her Ears". The heroine protagonist of the story is a music teacher, and she is pleasantly surprised with the news she receives in the end, so I think such a title, embellished with an apt word play, would be a nice choice.

ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

Chat GPT has permeated all spheres of our life. Its versatility and facility in creating texts have found application in studies and creation. Some of us, seeing how ubiquitous Chat GPT is and how many people use it, argue that it may cause the downfall of education and critical thinking. In this essay, I aim to write why I disagree with this statement.

It can be understood why some people think the use of Chat GPT might have grave consequences. There is a tendency among students to write assignments via Chat GPT without even understanding what it does, simply to earn a grade. ~~But~~ Nevertheless, teachers ~~would still say that it~~ deem it a great educational asset.

This AI-gemstone is what has been utilized by many educators. They easily create original texts and imaginative tasks, which entail a lot of critical thinking, for their students with the help of Chat GPT. Given that, it can be contended that this bot actually aids greatly to education and even moves it further. Therefore, it is possible to say that it is unlikely to spark the downfall of education and critical thinking.

To conclude, Chat GPT does more good in education than harm. ~~But~~ ^{however} it might be helpful for cheaters, it aids teachers and allows them to advance the educational process.
