20	I think 'Changing Places' would work as the story is about Julie apprehensively returning home while Ena is fairly positive. To her daughter going to London is what going to Malaysia was to Julie, so in that sense they've changed places. This way the title has two meanings, literal and metaphorical.

ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

With the sudden rise in AI technologies it is feared that AI models like Chat GPT may lead to the downfall of education and critical thinking. Opinions may vary, but personally, I recognize the threat it poses. I shall explain.

People are already dependent on the internet for information and often look things up on Wikipedia or other sites. Chat GPT is more convenient and it already uses these sources. And yet according to numerous studies, Chat GPT seems to get dumber with time and it may give misinformation.

Many idolize AI as this "crazy" technology without realizing that what we have is nothing more than processing machines. It uses the internet to learn, but it doesn't really know or understand anything. It just generates text or images based on associated words.

All of this is to say that it's no smarter than a human and AI dehumanizes basic processes like thinking, writing, drawing and more by removing the creator. At that point, are you really doing anything yourself? I think you should form your own opinion, but know: AI can't teach you how to live, because it hasn't ever lived, and it can't tell you what to feel, because it cannot do that itself.
