ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

Are we alone in the Universe? Thousands of scientists have been struggling with this question for ages. Although sending various signals to space and discovering planets with high-tech telescopes, humanity still hasn't found any signs of extraterrestrial ~~life~~ intelligent life.

Unfortunately, none of our scientists' attempts to find other civilizations have succeeded. However, I believe that we should never give up. According to scientific researches, the Universe is infinite. It means that we can't be unique. The chances of complex life's appearing are extremely ~~slow~~ small but they do exist. Consequently, mankind should continue its research as long and as far as possible. Even if we have to explore other galaxies, we ~~mustn't not~~ stop. If something that destroys civilizations ~~civilization~~ exists, and that's why we can't find any, we should find out how to deal with it to survive.

I am not a specialist ~~x~~ but there ~~or~~ must be some ways to understand why we can't find anything. It is possible that people and our technologies are still just not developed enough. Therefore, why should we give up trying?

In conclusion, I am convinced that people should attempt to extent their vision as far as possible. Moreover, it can ~~x~~ be beneficial in long-term perspective as we get access to new resources. Anyway, it is just interesting to explore the outer space.
