ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

Some scientists assume that intelligent life forms exist on other planets and that it is worth sending messages to them.

Considering that intelligent life actually exists on other planets we can also suppose that the so-called aliens are aggressive and can violate us since our scientists know nothing about them and cannot work out any plans to protect us. In addition, such communication might turn out to be too expensive and dangerous for the ecology and people at all.

On the contrary, I believe that the contact with inhabitants of other planets may be important for the humanity. Exploring the universe can ~~provide~~ supply us with ~~ideas of creations~~ discoveries and ideas of creations which will be crucial for the future generations and the history of science. Adding to that, universal communication ~~and~~ can lead to cooperation with creatures who are much more intelligent and wide-witted than us. That would also be significant for the future of science and the whole population of the Earth.

So, in conclusion, I would like to express my opinion on this problem. I suppose that contacting intelligent life forms from other planets is very important. However, it should be ~~cautiousness~~ done with much cautiousness and considered by ~~se~~ experts ~~with~~ from multiple points of view.
