ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

Some scientists believe in extraterrestrial life and try to somehow get in contact with it, make a connection. While doing this might benefit the human race in a number of ways, some dangers have a chance to occur, too.

When I imagine an alien, I picture its mind and intelligence as something significantly different than Imagine we have gotten in touch with aliens from some faraway galaxy. Their minds would probably differ significantly from ours. It is also possible they would have more technically progressed intelligence in science. If humans manage to cooperate with them, it might bring us progress in technical and scientific fields, while also allowing us to travel to other planets. But what if these creatures do not turn out to be amiable?

Contacting those living on other planets might also put Earth in danger. Aliens' hostile attitude towards humans might provoke a conflict, which may lead to a war at a universal level. So should we really risk our safety for this seemingly valuable connection?

Even all points being considered, my attitude towards this subject remains multifaceted. Sending messages out into the space, despite the risks, might seem like a moderately smart idea, but I strongly advocate for our planet's safety and also wish to see it and its inhabitants prospering. So, in my opinion, there is no issue with exploring extraterrestrial life as long as we are ready to fight back a potential enemy.

Вариант № 3

16	4) she was almost weeping; her voice had grown very low and agitated. 1) She had a certain fine, rich coloring that belongs to the healthy brune type. 2) she was confidently waiting for him to declare himself and she meant to accept him; 3) It depends upon a good deal whether I ever forgive you.
17	(*) She was confidently waiting for him to declare himself and she meant to accept him. 1) two weeks; 2) a good deal 3) "I came in with your brother, as I often do!" 4) he became hopeful about his and Nathalie's relationship again. 5) when they turned to retrace their steps, Brantain's face was radiant with triumph.
18	1) allowed him to do something that would take a lot of courage in normal circumstances; 2) staring at someone; 3) crossed something, got mixed with something; 4) that one meeting of theirs; 5) someone she has been friends with for a very long time
19	1) eagerly 2) doubt 3) uttered 4) fake 5) plane
20	I would suggest the title to be "Mutually Deceived" as Nathalie and Brantain's relationship is based on lies, and they both contribute to this: Brantain admires Nathalie solely for her looks and cannot find a subject they would both be interested in discussing, and Nathalie only stays with him because of his wealth. Their relationship only fosters misunderstanding and deceptions.
