5	Animals also teach us to trust our feelings and that a living creature can be united with the nature and thus find what it needs. For example, the marine creatures navigate sensing electric fields and pulsing currents. Their ability works no matter what. Scientists have seen a baby turtle find its way instinctively, despite the conditions they put it in.

Вариант № 2

16	1. It is false, for the task of attaining almost as much as the entire generating capacity of America every year looks increasingly daunting, let alone global renewable capacity. 2. It is true since "rising costs... have led developers to abandon once-profitable projects" and "five... developments have been cancelled". 3. It is false as protectionism "raises costs and threatens shortages". 4. It is false, for the author is surprised how "too little development is happening in the global south even though the demand for electricity there is surging". 5. It is false, because the author says that they need to "unleash investment by acting boldly", which means that they aren't ready to do that yet.
17	1. Delegates from 118 countries have pledged to raise global renewable-energy capacity. 2. That happened thanks to rising costs, slow approval and protectionism. 3. It can be made easier if the government acts boldly to strip back permitting rules and eases the risk of projects in the global south. 4. The governments should face up to the fact that protectionism is standing in their way to solving the problem. 5. Delaying projects for years, little development in the global south, and protectionism.
18	1. to have very small few resources and thus be restricted in actions 2. 3. might suffer for the best 4. to make the rules more strict to 5. stop denying
19	1. to promise 2. to grow raise rise 3. a lower wage 4. production 5. determinately
