16	1) pierced to the heart, to the heart, by such a letter 2) in such a strange, strong tone that the younger girls began to feel positively frightened 3) that the younger girls began to feel positively frightened; the older girls were crimson, some of the younger ones began to cry. 4) "pay no attention to the letter, must have been mad."
17	1) He said that he wouldn't marry her and by his word "disgust" she understood that their engagement was broken off 2) she chose the sad music when her mood was bad and the happy one when her mood was good 3) because she was thirty and Basil was twenty-five 4) on the wings of hope, of love, of joy Miss Meadows sped back to the music hall, she half ran towards door
18	1) walked in the corridor 2) made very unhappy 3) a voice with no emotions 4) to be afraid of smth 5) to be look was looking very angrily
19	1) atmosphere 2) blowing 3) returned 4) stairs 5) sad
20	I would name the story "The telegram". I think this title well suits well the story because the telegram Miss Meadows got changed everything. In the beginning she was in very bad mood, but when she got the telegram and read the good news everything, beginning from her mood and ending with music in the music hall, changed

ТВОРЧЕСКОЕ ЗАДАНИЕ

Chat GPT may lead to the down fall of education and critical thinking. I disagree with this idea because such neural networks as chat GPT have a lot of advantages and can make studying more easy.

Chat GPT can in a few seconds analyze huge data <sup>from</sup> the Internet and give a very good and understandable information to a student. It simplifies the process of searching information a lot, so students can easily find a lot of additional information and learn it.

But Chat GPT is not perfect now, and it can give wrong information. So student needs critical thinking to find out if that information is true or false. I think very few students would blindly accept information the neural network gives them and most of students would think about it and the critical thinking wouldn't be damaged.

But some students <sup>can</sup> use Chat GPT for cheating or for doing home work for them. and this can lead to very bad consequences to education. But I think that education system should become better ~~and~~ and adapt for new realities of using neural networks, for example teachers should give such home work that cannot be done with help of Chat GPT

So, if the student wants to study
well, I think, using neural network
isn't a problem
