ВАРИАНТ № 3

AI has recently become a huge part of our lives. Companies use AI art, use it instead of hiring actual human employees. Ordinary people also prefer AI; they use it to answer questions or make decisions; students use it to write essays or cheat on tests. That begs the question: what caused this situation and how can we change anything?

Firstly, AI is too accessible for a tool that functional. ~~Any~~ Anyone can grab their phone or PC and use some kind of AI. Some ~~apps~~ companies even integrate it into their apps, encouraging people to use it more frequently.

Secondly, AI makes ~~lives~~ lives of those who use it too easy. Why bother writing an essay or coming up with a solution yourself when ChatGPT can do it faster and better? People nowadays want everything done quickly and AI can provide massive help in achieving such results.

So what are the possible solutions to this problem? Humanity is already too used to using AI, so a complete ban is out of the question. Probably the best way to solve the problem is making it less accessible and allowing people to use it mainly for special purposes, such as medicine, production etc.

To come to a conclusion, AI is currently the future of mankind. We need to start using it more thoughtfully and rationally. Our lives shouldn't depend on AI but rather be supported by it.
