5	In my opinion, the biggest benefit biggest benefit of computer-based learning compared to traditional forms of education is the sheer scope of analytical powers that AI possesses. A computer can not only give you feedback on the result of your work, but also an overview of how and why you failed based on the behavioral patterns it observed.

20	The climate crisis is one of the most severe challenges humanity faces. It has led to destruction and people worried for their livelihoods. The power threat meaning framework helps people work through these emotions and it is strongly advised to find like-minded individuals to help cope with this collective trauma. Nevertheless, this crisis cannot be dealt with without systematic government support.
