5	According to Matt Walker's research the shorter the one sleeps the shorter their life. The statement is correct because the insufficiency of sleep raises the risk of heart diseases and depression. The excessive consumption of caffeine, which does not let us fall asleep, leads to high levels of anxiety. This may lead to psychological issues and suicide.

17	1. They can perform billions of operations per second. 2. Parallel processing is currently used for AI graphic units. 3. The machines power biofilaments through nano fabricated mazes. 4. Biocomputers use less energy but work more slowly. 5. Brain uses only a few watts, while data centres, which AI uses, consume about 3 percents of global electricity.
18	1. To keep the efficiency of the process 2. there's a trap (or a flaw) 3. fast processing 4. request for lowering electricity (energy) usage 5. offer new perspectives
19	1. a miracle 4. counting 5. point of view
20	AI and modern technologies use a lot of electricity, which is a problem. The solution of the issue might be the developing biocomputers, which use less energy, even though they work slower. Also, people may use neuromorphic computing by replicating human brain's interconnected architecture using novel hardware, because brain uses way less energy.
