ВАРИАНТ № 1

There are a lot of people in our world who struggle to provide food for themselves and their families. Starvation is a ~~major~~ major problem of the modern world, and we need to find a way to solve it. To do so, we first have to define the causes of this problem.

I believe that one of the main reasons of the starvation in certain regions is that ~~rich~~ wealthy people often tend to overconsume and waste their food, while poor people have to earn their food the hard way. Another cause is that the government focuses on the export of food instead of giving the food to those in need. To sum up, the cause of the lack of food is that the food is distributed unevenly.

A radical solution of the problem is to restrict people from buying more food than they can consume. As an example, the government could give out a token to get a certain amount of food after every shift. A different solution is to organize campaigns where people give away their excess food and poor people receive it. Both of these ideas have their flaws, but it is certainly better than dealing with people dying from starvation.
