5	From my point of view, one of the biggest benefit is the ability to study one topic as long as a person needs to understand it. In the traditional education there is a programme that needs to be studied and a time limit that show the quantity of time & that will be spent on one topic. So, if one doesn't understand it, there'll be no time to study it one more time, and this opportunity is provided by a computer-based learning.

Вариант № 1

16	1. F (Unfortunately, many are disheartened by the lack of substantial measures from global leaders, despite numerous climate summits) 2. T (... but they risk framing individual distress as the problem rather than acknowledging our connection to planetary crises) 3. F (... asking a "what happened to you?" instead of "What is wrong with you?") 4. T (Social power dynamics also influence whether individuals feel heard and included in environmental discussions or marginalised by negative media portrayal and dismissive societal messages) 5. T (Addressing climate distress requires systemic changes from governments and powerful entities, whose actions and inactions pose significant threats to the planet and future generations)
17	1. These are natural disasters such as floods, hurricanes, etc. Also this is a reason of social distress 2. They are concerned about it and it even affects on their daily life. However, not all of them are worried. 3. The study shows that such emotions as anger, guilt, despair are valid reaction to the situation. 4. It helps identify how distress responses can serve different purposes 5. Community can create spaces to process emotions and not to make up a strategy.
18	1. to stop the deaths in the future 2. the atmosphere in the community 3. a question that is a matter of worrying for everyone 4. a lifestyle that has been changed due to the desire to save the environment 5. to try to care of yourself, for example, not thinking about something terrifying or worrying
19	1. increasing 2. offended 3. to understand 4. denying 5. to encourage
20	Nowadays, the matter of climate changing is becoming more and more terrifying. Youngsters are worried, so many centres as PTNF offer their help to cope with stress, as social power dynamics really affects on everyone's condition. Finally, all government should take measures.
