AI taking over nearly all of the spheres of our daily lives has become a reality in the recent years. Understanding the causes of this phenomenon can provide insights on how to deal with it.

Firstly, I believe that the two main factors behind AI's global success are its wide availability and the wide range of applicability. Indeed, in a short span of time AI was able to go from a niche piece of software that required experience to use to a ~~as~~ phone app with an intuitive interface. In addition to the ease of use, AI is able to perform various tasks, ranging in difficulty. This includes text, video, audio, and image generation. As an example, both a student and their teacher can benefit from using AI: the teacher can use it to construct different tasks, whereas the student may use it to organise their notes. do not

With how quickly AI is evolving, I ~~know~~ believe there exists a feasible solution to stop it from taking over. Instead, the humanity needs to focus on using AI to accelerate the rate of the scientific and technological advancement.

In conclusion, I reckon it is only a matter of time until everyone accepts AI as a necessary tool in their daily lives.
