ВАРИАНТ № 1

In ~~the~~ landscape of the ~~consumption~~ ^{consumption} era, as an overall quality of life increases in developed countries, lack of food in some regions becomes much more visible. Africa is a great example of such place.

Many geographical, economical and ^{political} ~~political~~ factors influence continent's current condition. Firstly, Africa's extreme climate makes agriculture ^{unprofitable} ~~unprofitable~~ because of poor soil, limited water ^{resources} ~~resources~~ and heat, so growing food is not the best option on some territories, which are more than a half of a continent. Secondly, most African countries haven't passed through industrialisation, while Europe is on it's final stage of becoming post-industrial. - the difference is unbelievable, ~~although~~ Obviously, the main reason is colonization Africa suffered from for centuries. The final and, in my opinion, the most heart-breaking reason, is war. Civil wars and external conflicts bring ^{destruction} ~~destruction~~ and poverty to africans, so the economics can't boost. Additionally, "global players" are willing to extract oil, gold, ~~and uranium~~ and other crucial resources from African ground in exchange for basic help, so ^{not} ~~not~~ bigger countries want continent to become economically independent. -

If you ask me, the best solution is helping Africa to make it's own food instead 20	I would suggest a title "Island story". It focuses on both Adele's and Rebecca's personalities and gives the setting of the text at the very beginning. This name is also quite intriguing as it doesn't provide any specific information about the plot. Finally, it gives opportunity to imagine what it would look like before starting to read.
