ВАРИАНТ № 2

In the 21st century society ~~started~~^{confronted} facing a problem of food wasting^{age}. An unexpectedly high percentage of the planet's population throw away a lot of food purchased from supermarkets or restaurants. Predictably, it leads to the development of severe ecological problems as well as to reckless usage of financial resources.

Why do people tend to waste such ~~valuable~~^{precious} resources as food and money? Among the main reasons of such behaviour we can observe the lack of mindful consuming, which most people suffer from, and not possessing enough self-moderation, while purchasing any goods. Active promotion campaigns also lead customers to buying extra food production, which they are likely to forget about and, consequently, throw away.

To find an effective solution to this problem, we are to remember that moderation is the key. People should have a more conscious approach to buying any goods, especially food. Furthermore, restaurants are also concerned about this issue. Some of them now introduce an innovative system that obligates their visitors to pay extra for taking away food they ordered, but did not finish. It stimulates people to be more mindful in such ~~cafés or restaurants~~. Also^{and}, it prevents them from ~~un~~ food wastage, contributing to the solution of the 20	"A Fairy Tale Story That Came True". Since fairy stories are usually something fictional, this term in the title symbolises that people questioned the existence of Mrs. Baxter's husband. However, despite of this disbelief, Mr. Baxter was real and eventually came to his family, which is reflected in "came true". Furthermore, this title is an allusion on Mr. Baxter's phrase in the end of the story.
