In many parts of the world, there is not enough food for everyone. Everyday many people die out of starvation. I am going to break down the cause of it suggest solutions.

The main cause of the worldwide starvation and famine is unemployment and inflation. Nowadays, there are many unemployed people living in every part of the world no matter the country. Some have a high chance of finding a job, some end up homeless. Most companies have an understandable demand for qualified specialists, which means good education is a number one priority. But not everyone can afford a good education, so I can suggest solutions to this problem.

There is a significantly large amount of ~~poor~~ people who work illegally. Furthermore, many countries ~~suffer~~ suffer from the problem of immigrants taking other people's places at work. To decrease the amount of immigrants and other people who do this, the government can establish a law project that will forbid immigrants to work freely, making them face a punishment if they work unofficially.

For those who's already homeless and can't afford basic needs, people can build special shelters. However, establishing a home shelter is expensive. To fund the people in need, the government should fund home shelters, so people can provide others with food and ~~the~~ beds to sleep on.
