5	Nowadays people use mostly computers and gadgets to learn something new. In my opinion the benefits of computer-based learning cannot be underestimated. I would say that the biggest benefit of such type of learning is convenience. Internet is the integral part of our lives. We can use as it everywhere we want. So, the people can receive information at home, on their way home, while travelling.

20	The text discusses the global problem of climate change and how different people react to it. People are worried about the future of our planet, the future of further generations. PTMF can help to combat stress and to focus on the context of distress. Social power dynamics impacts greatly on people's mental well-being too.
