These days, food wastage has become a serious ~~problem~~ problem that poses threat to the environment.

When products are thrown away, it means that the ^{and energy} resources used ~~for~~ for their production are wasted.

~~It is~~ In order to address the problem the reasons for its emergence must be considered. In case of food wastage, the blame should be put on both those who sell products and those who buy them.

People are sometimes deprived of the choice whether to ^{purchase} ~~buy~~ one fruit or three of them as ~~they~~ ^{several of them} are sold in one package. Another factor that contributes to food wastage is the fact that people overestimate how much they could possibly consume.*

~~The responsibility~~ A great deal of responsibility for wasting food lies on ordinary people so they are the ones to take action. First of all, shopping should be done wisely so that ~~any~~ nobody buys products they're not capable of consuming. The ideas of ~~conscious~~ conscious consumption could be spread via social media so that the awareness of the problem is risen. ~~The shops~~ What ~~shops~~ ^{the shop owners} can do is to reduce the price on products the expiry date of which is approaching.

To sum up, although the problem is bad, ~~efforts~~ ^{people's} efforts of

16	1) Those who could pay, did. Those who could not brought her butter and cheese, fish, tortillas, eggs, and fiery pepper sauce. 2) Rumor had it the speculator had gone bankrupt and that the doctor had bought the land from him. Some said she had money of her own... 3) "This is just like the fairy stories you used to tell me ..."
17	1) Mrs. Baxter helped her patients and her daughter visited the school. In the evening, both of them came to the station to meet the 5:15 train from San Francisco. 2) Not believing in Mr. Baxter's existence would mean that he didn't believe in anything good. 3) He walked with the help of a cane. He didn't not, at first, notice the thin, haggard man who got off the train after everyone else. The man was handsome, but gaunt.
18	1) part of territory of a high quality 2) took care of her patients 3) when evening came 4) didn't mean anything 5) put the face so close that it touches something
19	1) didn't notice 2) part 3) smile 4) exhausted 5) see off
20	I would suggest the title "Every evening at 5:15". In my opinion, it reflects the plot of the story as Mrs. Baxter and her daughter came to the station every evening. The title doesn't contain any spoilers since it's not obvious whether the train arrived or not what happens at 5:15. Such a title will make the readers read read the story because it's intriguing.
